Diversity and Inclusion

We have developed three courses for training your employees on diversity and inclusion. Employment Tribunals expect employers to be able to demonstrate the steps they have taken to prevent discrimination and harassment in the workplace, and our courses are a useful tool to support this.

Disciplinary and Grievance Management

We have developed three courses designed for managers who are involved in disciplinary and/or grievance processes, guiding them through the stages to help reduce the risk to employees.

Right to Work Checks

We have developed this course designed for all those involved in this checking process, explaining why right to work checks are necessary, how to carry them out, and the severe consequences in place for failing to do so.
